PUBLIC NOTICE.

WHEREAS Luther Gale, of Lenox, in the state of Massachusetts, obtained Letters Patent from the President of the United States, for an improved Bark Mill, and also for the grinding of Corn, Plaister, Dyers Stuffs, &c. on the 15th of May, 1815. And the said Luther Gale by his deed, dated on the 21st day of November, 1816, granted and sold to the subscriber, Leman Bradley, the right of making, using and vending the said Mills in the city of Pittsburgh, in that part of Pennsylvania lying north and west of French Creek and the Ohio and Allegheny rivers, in the states of Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Louisiana, Mississippi and Indiana, the Michigan Territories, and all the country belonging to the United States south and west of the territory and states aforesaid.

Now, public notice is hereby given, that any authority heretofore given to a certain Samuel St. John, of Pittsburgh, and a certain John Ormsby, or to any other person or persons whosoever, to make, use, or vend any of the aforesaid Mills, within the country above described, is revoked and made void. And that no person now has the right under the above Patent to use or sell the said Mills, unless he is the authorised agent of the subscriber.

Notice is also given, that Mr. GEORGE SUTTON, Merchant, of the city of Pittsburgh, is duly authorised to make and sell all or any of the above improved Mills.

LEMAN BRADLEY.

Pittsburgh, October 8—1awtf.

Patent Trace Chain.

THE subscriber has invented and obtained a patent for cutting and bending links to make chain of different sizes.

Chain made of those links will have a superior advantage over the chain made in the common way as the iron is first drawn into a wire which makes each link of an equal thickness and more beautiful and strong than the common chain.

To the wholesale merchant they will be sold at 21 doll. per dozen. The links will likewise be sold to blacksmiths or others at 23 dolls. per hundred pounds with the necessary compliement of rings, each chain requires six pound of links.

Orders accompanied with the cash will be promptly attended to by the subscriber at his works adjoining Pittsburgh.

The stage has unquestionably an effect upon public morals; men of all characters and dispositions find something in its attractions congenial to themselves: the Patriot can behold there the CATO of his adoration—the Philantropist can shudder at the enormities of a NERO—the lover can sigh at the fate of a ROMEO, and the statesman view the tenor of his existence in that of WOLSEY.

Pittsburgh will shortly contain within its hospitable boundaries a company of Comedians, the parallel to which has never crossed the mountains. Mrs. Entwisle, by far the most superior actress that has ever graced the boards of a Theatre in this country, on her departure from Philadelphia was presented with the following address (written by the author of the "Field of Orleans") which has never appeared in print—the copy from which this is transcribed being handed me by the author.

TO MRS. ENTWISLE.

Arts sweet magician! nature's favorite child,
Saddened with grief, with mimic frenzy wild,
Playful with mirth, with jealousy enraged,
Rash with revenge, with love's soft gifts assuaged!
The varied passions wait thy magic will,
Which matchless judgment moulds with matchless skill!
Though tyrant* power regardless of its name,
Robs us of thee, it cannot steal thy fame;
Where'er thy talents in dramatic art,
Shall nourish virtue and amend the heart,
Here shall remembrance bid that fame endure,
Firm as the rock and as thy genius pure!
If where Ohio rolls his lengthened stream,
Where wayward fancy paints the travellers dream,
Thou bend'st thy course, and bid'st thy powers beguile,
The Drama-desert in the West shall smile;
Friends there shall own thy merit and invite,
And strike the blow to do thy genius right—
So 'erst our injured sires from eastern clime,
Sway'd by rude hands enured to every crime,
Fled from the spot by tyrant force oppress't
And sought like thee a refuge in the West.

HARD TIMES.

FROM THE WISE SAYINGS OF MY UNCLE GUY.

Richard, said my Uncle Guy, you are somewhat acquainted with the fashions, manners, tastes and sentiments of the age, and possibly may answer some questions, prompted by the observations I made in my last marketing expedition to the metropolis. There was a word used by the Metropolitans, which I apprehend from the significant and demure looks that accompanied its pronunciation, of more than a cabalistic import Not the remembrancer of Philip with "Philip remember thou art mortal," could have so often assailed his ear, as this phrase met mine. The merchant made his acknowledgement of "money due," but he plead Hard Times.—My Landlord had raised in his demands, but "'twas unavoidable, the times had reduced him to Poverty." I had been defeated in an attempt to explore Don Daniel, and I could not decypher the inscription on the seal of Solomon (my Uncle in his youth had travelled among the Turks)—my patience thus tried, I was, therefore, reconciled with my ignorance of the Arcana of modern Phraseology. Now, Richard, can you tell me what this means. As my uncle loves concise answers, I gave him "difficult seasons," "bad markets, &c.—This will not do, said he, for the external appearance should correspond with the intrinsic state —now our country never exhibited more apparent signs of prosperity than at the present day; my Boston tour furnished me with abundant proofs in support of this position; I saw the stately Domes rising on the ruins of buildings that met the utmost wants of the father, but not the pride of the sons. I heard

"The gay Carousal shake th' illumined Hall."

And deem'd that all was well and happy. Seeing that my uncle had done with his rhapsody, I ventured to observe that nations might approximate to individuals, and a particular characteristic of the latter appear to be the general feature of the former, but since, sir, you condemn the practice, will you propose the remedy. "Our miseries, my boy, proceed from our own vices & irregularities; we indulge in all the fashions of the old world, and shall soon become as effeminate as Sardanapalus and as dissolute as Heliogabulus. I remember the time when our practical economy, would have put to flight our present evils; we were then content with the produce of our own farms, save, for a few necessaries, and for them we paid the merchant in something besides "windy promises." Then a coat or gown, manufactured by our own women, was sufficient for holidays and ball-rooms. and I remember that Aunt Deborah won the universal attentions of the one sex, and the universal envy of the other in consequence of the brilliant colour the wood moss had imparted to her linsey woolsey cloak.—Now were we to return to the primitive manners of our fathers—discard superfluities—restrain fancy, and admit reason as our counsellor, we should effectually silence the phrase that provoked my indignation." Bost. Adv.

THE CREATOR.

In a musical instrument we observe a number of strings so combined, as to produce the sweetest harmony. We therefore conclude that some skilful musician hath tuned them.

At a review we see regiments in the field, marshalled under their respective colors, all yielding the most perfect obedience. We infer there must be a general to whose orders they are subject.

In a watch we perceive springs and wheels, of various dimensions, and apparently moving in various directions, yet we discover they all concur to produce the same effect—the measurement of time. We cannot but acknowledge the ingenuity of an artificer.

When we admire a stately edifice, we conclude it must have had an architect.

And when the majestic ship enters the port with a flowing canvas, we know that it is conducted by a pilot..

And who tuned the harmony of the universe? who marshalled the stars of heaven? who contrived the mahcinery of revolving planets? who built the globe? who conducts it through the immensity of space to its final destiny?

Has the atheist, the infidel, no answer to these interrogations? Alas, the fool hath said in his heart there is no God! But the Christian exclaimeth, "great and marvellous are thy works O God of truth, in wisdom hast thou made them all."

[Savan. Museum.

A TRAIT OF NATURE.

The death of Captain MANUEL DE LOS RIOS seems to have excited considerable surprize, both as to the time and manner of his assassination. But a brief account of the facts which led to it, will show that it was the natural consequence of his honorable courage.

A great number of Spanish merchantmen had been for some weeks blockaded in the port of Havana, by a petty Buenos Ayres privateer—and although there were two vessels of war, belonging to his Catholic Majesty, in port, their brave commanders had not the courage with their united force to attack the little insurgent privateer.—Thus situated, the Spanish merchantmen, though ready laden and with a favorable breeze, might have been blockaded until doomsday—had not a meeting been held to devise private means for the liberation of their embargoed freights. A vessel was armed and munitioned, and the brave Manuel de los Rios was appointed captain. His Catholic Majesty's vice-roy at Havana consented that the attempt should be made to beat off the impudent privateer— and Manuel sailed forth with a promiscuous crew, to the scene of combat—while the two government vessels of war, with their officers, lay snug in port. Captain de los Rios, after a bloody contest, was victorious—he sunk the privateer and returned to Havana amidst the acclamations of the inhabitants. The Spanish officers, though they had no sense of honour or courage, had a feeling alive to envy and revenge—the brave Manuel was found the next day after his victory ASSASSINATED on the Almeda, a public walk of the city! A deed so attrocious and so cowardly, that it seems to have excited the horror of all the inhabitants of Havanna. The murder is unreservedly laid to the charge of his Majesty's officers—and the motive by which it was perpetrated evinces the character of the government and its agents, against whose bigotry and despotism, the South Americans are gradually uniting to secure their independence.

Charleston Patriot.

EXPLOSION,

The magazine of the elegant ship Canton Packet, Proctor, lying in the stream, bound to the Isle of France and Canton, took fire by some means, yet unaccounted for, about 11 o'clock, and exploded with a terrible noise. Her stern nearly to the kelson, and almost to the mainmast, blew up, carrying with it the mizzenmast. Her cable was cut as soon as assistance was afforded from the Independence 74, and from the shore, and towed on to the flats, where she now lies nearly full of water, and on fire between decks. How many lives were lost, has not as yet been ascertained. It is said she had a considerable sum in specie on board.

N. Y. Gaz.

FOREIGN.

A Brussels paper states that some of Bonaparte's partisans in France attempted to carry on a correspondence with him by means of a magnificent muslin dress, which was sent as a present to Madame Bertrand, the embroidered flowers and figures of which were hieroglyphical characters.

The Potuguese government is said to have contracted, in England for 30,000 stand of arms, to be sent to Lisbon without delay— 6000 are already on the passage.

Four thousand women, among others, are employed on the fortifications of Tournay, wheeling earth in barrows.

The British Parliament have appropriated nearly 18 millions of dollars for relieving the public distress—more than 6 and a half millions for England, and more than 11 for Ireland.

"Letters from Algiers, Feb. 19.—The activity of the Dey has now within a half year wholly remedied the consequences of one of the bloodiest battles which the shores of Africa have witnessed for many centuries. It is thought the intention was to destroy Algiers. This however did not happen. The loss consisted in the largest part of the pirate fleet; but the arsenals, the magazines and workshops, the store of ammunition and provisions, in short all the elements of political life were saved. The damaged fortifications are now stronger than before, and the marine, by means of purchase and new built vessels, may be said to be daily increasing.

"The abolition of slavery seems to have been the chief object of the expedition.—But either as slaves or prisoners of war, the christian, who has the misfortune to fall into the hands of these barbarians, will be treated exactly in the same manner.

"The Algerines do not trouble themselves about this difference, if they can only make war upon the European nations at their pleasure, and enrich their state with the sums extorted from them, or with the value of the ships captured from them.—The whole of the Marine of this place is, however, at present dismantled, except the schooner which was sent soon after the bombardment with an Ambassador, and rich presents, to Constantinople, and is not yet come back; and according to all appearance no new piratical expedition will be undertaken before an answer from Constantinople. Since the Monopoly of the trade and Coral Fishery at Bona, which was farmed to the English; from 1806 for 30,000 hard piastres, has ceased, it has been offered to France and Naples. France, which had possessed the privilege from the beginning of the seventeenth century, is said to be not disinclined to take it again on the old terms, that is about 18,000 hard piastres; but the Dey demands as much as he received from the English, and the affair is still undecided.

"Meantime and notwithstanding the last harvest was most excellent, and there is abundance of corn in the country, the Dey will not allow any to be exported to Europe, though pretty high prices have been offered him, particularly by France. Probably he wishes to see the affair of the Bona Fishery terminated before he allows any purchase of corn in the country.

LATE FROM HAVANNA.

Captain Croker, of the Calypso, arrived at Charleston on the 30th of May, in 5 days from Havanna, informs, that just before he sailed, the Governor published an order, that every negro should after dark carry a light, and the guard were ordered to search every person, without distinction, for knives and other deadly secreted weapons—but persons might carry swords, if exposed to view, by being hung at the side. This was in consequence of the numerous assassinations that occurred every night; in one night, it is said that 9 persons were killed in this way.

From the New York Gazette, June 6.

We learn that the United States' brig Enterprize, Lieutenant Kerney, is fitting at this port for sea. She will take out a number of officers, and about forty midshipmen, to make a survey of the coast.

Contracts, it is said, have been recently made, with the Navy Department, for the building and equipping of another 74 and a frigate, in the port of Philadelphia.

A large supply of provisions for the United States troops at Fort Montgomery (says the Milledgeville paper) lately sent from New-Orleans and landed at Pensacola, to be transported from thence to the American camp, has been seized, we are informed, by the Spanish Commandant; in consequence of which our troops are suffering for subsistence.

We are informed by a gentleman from the County of Berkshire that on Tuesday 27th ult. considerable snow fell, and that the tops of mountains were white with it on the following morning.—Bos. D. Adv.

PITTSBURGH.

TUESDAY, JUNE 16, 1817.

A brother editor, who is disappointed in his expectation of finding in us a fellow labourer in the cause of old school democracy, pays us a left handed compliment upon our patriotism. When we said that the Federalists would gain nothing by the election of Mr. Heister, any man of common capacity could have perceived that we alluded to a change of policy which would be beneficial to the state at large, and of course to the federalists. But our brother editor is shocked at the unnatural idea of the Federalists having an interest separate from their loving and faithful brethren, the democrats of the old school. He should remember that "the best friends must part," and that however, much we may feel indebted to his party for the affection they have shewn and the favours they have rendered us, we still have an interest in the state as well as they, and are not to be "led by the nose as asses are." We consider the contention between Heister and Findlay to be a party affair entirely, and that in a political point of view, it is a matter of perfect indifference which succeeds. If we believe the democratic editors, one of the candidates is a decent old gentleman who wants common sense, and the other a flippant young one who wants common honesty.

"'Tis strange, there should such dif'rence be,
'Twixt tweedle dum and tweedle dee."

But the editor of the Mercury not only displays his critical discernment in the discovery of what he calls our patriotism, but shews also a considerable deal of that modesty which, so peculiarly belongs to Duane and his disciples. After impugning our motives, and accusing us of want of patriotism for presuming to think that the federal party has any interest in the election, or any thing to gain from either of the candidates, our brother editor winds up with a hope that many of us will attend the polls "from a sense of public good"—that is, that we will go and vote for Heister—and why? not because he is the best man, for that would be consulting our interest—not because he is less of a jacobin than his opponent—for then we might gain by it—but simply because, of two despicable men he is the least despised—and because he is nominated by a convention. The patriotic editor of the Mercury will tell us next, that it is the height of impertinence in the federalists to send members to the legislature, who being in the minority can do no good, and are only in the way of the legitimate representatives of the sovereign people. Truly our brother editor fights hard in the great cause—and if modesty or cuteness are of any avail, he may exclaim in the words of Homer.

"Others, 'tis own'd, in fields of battle shine
But the first honours of this fight are mine."

A publication appears in the Intelligencer, signed "Wm. A. Weaver," Lt. of the U. S. Navy, from which we understand, that, with his penknife, he took off the right ear of a certain James F. Power, for the alledged offence of writing an anonymous letter in which the character of a near female relative was highly abused and shamefully implicated.—A reward of 100 dollars is offered for the apprehension of Weaver.

Gen. Jackson is now superintending the erection of a national cannon and cannon ball foundery, on Shoal creek, Madison county, Mississippi territory, he has laid off 30,000 acres for the use of the establishment.

Our Foreign Relations.—It is with much gratification, (says the Baltimore Patriot) that we are enabled to state, upon the highest authority, that our relations with foreign powers generally, were never upon a more favorable and amicable footing. The strongest manifestations of friendship and expressions of a sincere desire for a perfect reciprocity in commercial and other affairs, we have substantial reason to believe, have been received by our government, through the medium of our public functionaries, from the Emperor of Russia, the regent of England, the King of France, and other powers of Europe. We shall not be surprised should we soon experience such a modification in British edicts as to allow us a free and unrestricted participation in the West India trade.

The administration of Mr. Monroe certainly commences under auspices the most pleasing and favorable: and it is devoutly to be hoped, that its issue may be as honorable to him, and as glorious and beneficial to the nation, as its objects are great and sacred.

Plain dealing.—The States General, or National Assembly, convened at the commencement of the revolution in France, was composed in a great measure of the worst of characters, such as sharpers and swindlers, and low-bred knavish pettifog-gers. In this group was a farmer of the name of Gerard; an illiterate man, and in manners and dress a mere peasant, but possessed of much honesty and good sense. One of the orators of the assembly terminated a long speech, by asking Gerard what he thought of the assembly. "I think, said Gerard," rising in his place, and looking gravely around him, "I think there are a great many scoundrels among us."

Con. Cour.

A writer in the New-York Post, in noticing the accidents which have lately occurred by the explosion of the boilers in the opposition boats, observes, that those in which the accidents have happened, required a pressure on the square inch of from 150 to 200 pounds, while those of Mr. Fulton's require but a pressure of 8 or 10 pounds the square inch. The contrast is amazing, and fully explains the cause of these unfortunate results.

Since our roads have become dry and travelling rendered agreeable our towns and villages are crowded with stangers in pursuit of land, &c. We are rejoiced to learn that capitalists are now in search of a place to erect iron works. Rich iron ore has been found on the Meremek and its tributary waters, the banks of all our rivers and creeks indicate the possession of various minerals; indeed we only want men of science, industry and enterprize to develope the mighty resources of this interesting country. A fertile soil, valuable mines, a far and peltry trade calculated to employ a capital to an immense amount, are only a part of the inducements which must give this country a decided preference to any of the sister territories.

NEW YORK, JUNE 4.

On Monday afternoon, two officers belonging to the United States sloop of war Saranac, ended a dispute with pistols; and it is stated in last evening's Post, that a Midshipman killed Lieut. HEATH the first shot.—We do most feelingly regret the death of this amiable and promising youth. By such imprudent modes of setting disputes, the country suffers the loss of some of its bravest and most valuable members, and society its brightest ornaments. Can there be no stop put to duelling.

CLEOPATRA'S BARGE.— Capt. Packard of the brig Nancy, 19 days from Fayal, informs, that off St. Michaels he spoke the ship Cleopatra's Barge, Capt. Crownishield, 26 days from Salem, and 16 hours from Fayal, all well. The principal nobility at Fayal had visited the Barge, and were much pleased with her construction and accommodations.

From the Boston Palladium, June 3.

SHIP CANTON PACKET.

On Thursday last the ship Canton Packet, Captain Proctor, cleared for India and China. Her loading, we understand, consisted principally of lumber for the Isle of France—and she had on board about $300,000 in specie to be invested at Canton.—She was at anchor off the Long wharf, and would have sailed this day or to-morrow, if the wind had proved favorable.

Yesterday, about 11 o'clock, a quantity of powder, (said to amount to two or three kegs) situate near the cabin, exploded, with a concussion that shook the houses in town, blew the quarter deck of the ship to a great height in the air, drove out the quarters and stern, threw the mizen-mast against the main-yard, and set the ship on fire.

Assistance was soon afforded from the shore, from the U. S. ship Independence. The cable of the Canton Packet was cut, and she was towed into shoal water, where she filled, and the fire was extinguished.

Before the explosion the Steward of the ship, a man of colour, was observed to go below; and this man was blown to pieces. He had discovered anger at being refused permission to go on shore; and immediately before the great explosion the discharge of a pistol was heard, and there were loaded pistols in the cabin. The powder was in tight vessels, and wrapped in a woolen cloth. No person was killed but the steward; one man was wounded in the arm, and the chief mate was slightly burnt. The men were principally forward and the Captain was on shore.

The Specie has been saved; and the ship can be repaired in a short time. A small amount of her merchandize was destroyed.

The ship, and the principal part of the property, belonged to Messrs. J. and T. Perkins.

Capt. Kerr, arrived at Charleston, brings information, that a Spanish line of battle ship, two frigates, and fifteen sail of transports, passed Trinidad on the 11th ult.

This is no doubt the fleet which was mentioned in our foreign advices to have departed from Cadiz, destined for the continent of America—to what part is not precisely known. It is, however quite probable, that this is the expedition under the direction of Gen. O'Donnell, who, it is reported, will succeed Gen. Morillo, who has become exceedingly unpopular, in the command of the royal troops on the Spanish Main.

The magnitude of the force intended as an auxiliary to those engaged in the royal cause, has been variously stated. The above is less powerful than that which the different accounts have previously announced.

To Owners of Horses.

A NUMBER of the merchants of Philadelphia, desirous of promoting the internal intercourse of the state, and of facilitating their trade and connection with the western states, have united themselves into an association, under the name of "The Philadelphia and Pittsburgh Transporting Company." Their object is to reduce and equalize throughout the year, the cost of carriage, and to diminish the time now required, for the transport of merchandize to the western waters. They therefore purpose to establish Lines of Wagons, to start daily from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, to run day and night, changing horses every ten miles.

It must be evident to every enlightened person, that the success of the proposed system is most intimately connected with the interests of the whole community. It is important for the interiour of our state, that the trade of the western country should be maintained with the Atlantick cities; to secure which, the plan now contemplated, it is believed, will be effectual. A reduction in the rates, and in the time required for the transportation of Goods, to and from the Atlantick cities to the western waters, will enable the farmers and others to transmit their products to market with facility and cheapness, and procure a supply of foreign articles on more favourable terms. It will also increase the demand for horses, travelling, the value of lands, and in fine, add much to the improvement and importance of the towns and country on the route. Owners of horses, will find constant and profitable employment for them near their homes, which is surely preferable to uncertain employment at a distance.

PROPOSALS WILL BE RECEIVED,

For hauling the Wagons any number of sections of ten miles, each section, going and returning, to be performed within every twenty hours, and persons desirous of contracting will state the section or sections they will contract for.

The loading as far as Carlisle, will not exceed 4000 lbs. and from thence to Pittsburgh 3500, or 3200 when the roads are in a bad state.

The following conditions will be required.

1. Each contractor must give satisfactory security for the faithful performance of his contract.
2. Each contract must be for one year.
3. The contractor to be at every expense for his horses and driver, including the harness.
4. The Wagons must travel two miles an hour, changing horses every ten miles without any unnecessary delay.
5. The contractors will be accountable to the Company, for all delays or damages which may arise from fraud or mismanagement upon the road, embraced within their contract.

Turnpike and Bridge Tolls will be paid by the Company.

Application to be made by Letter as early as possible, directed to the Subscriber, agent for the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh Transporting Company in Philadelphia.

THOMAS HARPER,
AGENT for the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh Transporting Company.

For the prevention and cure of Bilious and Malignant Fevers.

The proprietor has every possible resaon tath an result from extensive experience, for believe ing that a dose of these pills, taken once in every two weeks, during the prevalence of our bilious fevers prove an infallible preventative; and further, that in the earlier stages of those dis- a their use will very generally succeed in restoring healt , and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—o restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds wh ch are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance—they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

In sickly times or places, a dose should be taken every fortnight, and if there is reason to apprehend personal danger, it may be taken once a week

They have been found remarkably efficacious n preventing and curing diso ders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

HAMILTON'S
Worm Destroying Lozenges.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of a similar title so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary, a particular excellence of this remedy is, its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent and is so mild in its operation, that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady, or the tenderest infant of a week old, should no worms exist in the body; but will, without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach or bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms, and many other fatal disorders.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally dur ing the warm season, will effectuallyprevent the "vomiting and purging of children," a dreadful disorder which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewisethe mildest and most certain remedy known, and the restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaints Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness, having a pleasing appearance and an agreeable taste.

HAMILTON'S
Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine fo the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Loss of Appetite
Impurity of the Blood
Hysterical Affections
Inward Weaknesses
Violent Cramps in the stomach and back
Indigestion
Melancholy
Gout in the stomach
Pains in the Limbs
Relaxations, &c

The principal operation of this remedy is in the stomach, restoring the digestive powers, and sending forth from that organ new health and vigor into every part of the system; it enriches and purifies the blood without inflaming it; braces, without stimulating too violently, the nervous system; strengthens the secretory vessels, and the general habit, brings back the muscular fibres to their natural and healthy tone; and restores that nutrition which immoderate evacuations had destroyr ed, and whose loss had thrown the whole frame nto langour and debility.

HAMILTON'S

Cure for Coughs and Colds.

HAMILTONS' ELIXIR,

A SOVEREIGN remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, and approaching consumptions, and most disorders of the breast and lungs.

A SINGLE TRIAL

Will prove, that it restores the determination of the fluids to the surface of the body, and brings on the common healthful perspiration; that it dislodges and evacuates the tough viscid phlegm or mucus, strengthens the weakened vessels of the lungs, sheathes the acrimonious humor which irritates them, and finally discharges it Thus striking at the root of the disorder, the symptoms are of course, effectually and permanently conquered; the reverse of common medicines, which weaken the constitution and gives strength to the disorder, for the sake of moderating for the present, some of its painful effects

To parents who have children afflicted with the WHOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is so perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small, that no difficulty arises in taking it.

TO H. LEE.

Being desirous to make public, for the good of others, the excellent quality of HAMILTONS' ELIXIR, prepared by the late Mr. Lee, I have sent you the following account of the benefit I have received from it, which I hope will induce others to give it a trial. In consequence of a bruise on the breast, received from a fall, my health grew bad, my breathing became very difficult, and frequently I have had to rise up in my bed, with all the horrors of immediate suffocation. Add to these a constant pain on my breast, and a cough, a great loss of strength and flesh, and you may conceive that my symptoms evidently indicated an approaching consumption. The advice of a most eminent physician was resorted to, and afterwards a second was called in, but without giving me any relief. Another physician who knew me and the circumstances of my case, advised me to give Hamiltons' Exixir a trial, saying, he had used it in his practice, and always found it do much good. A bottle was procured, and I found relief before I had taken half of it. I continued to use it, and was soon strong enough to attend to business. On taking cold, some of my former symptoms return, but are always removed by a dose or two of the Elixir.
